"Busting" the Trust.

"Look here, Bill," exclaimed the first citizen, "this orator person is better enough now on the subject of trusts, but, as everybody in this county knows, he was at one time a good deal interested in one of them." "Sure!" assented the other, "but just consider what he did when he awoke to the enormity of the thing! Didn't he do his level best to bust that trust? He sold it every one of his factories for twice what it was worth."

SALT LAKE AND STATE NEWS

BURGULARS LOOT JEWELRY STORE

J. S. Jensen and Chamberlain Music Company Suffer Considerable Losses.

Salt Lake, March 30.—Treasured heirlooms, valuable jewelry, and musical instruments were among the plunder secured last night by robbers who crawled through a back window and into the store of J. S. Jensen and the Chamberlain Music Company. The thieves were evidently amateurs of young boys, for the hole in the window would hardly admit a man. The value of the goods taken will amount to over $200 to the jeweler, aside from the value placed on bits of family trinkets left for repairs. The musical instruments are worth more than $150.

The element of luck also figured in the robbery. A genuine Batiste violin, the property of Dr. J. M. Dart and valued at $2,000, had been on exhibition in the music saloons for several days. It was much admired by musicians and was taken away by Dr. Dart only yesterday. It was kept on top of the showcase and could easily have been taken by the robbers if it had been left there last night. Mr. Chamberlain is of the opinion that this violin was the magnet which attracted the robbers, as its presence in the store was quite well known and its value was apparent to the observer.

Misfortune fell heavily upon one customer. An aged woman, whose name is not given out, called yesterday with a brooch and earrings to match. The trinkets are highly prized by the owner, not for their intrinsic value, but because of the association with other days. The jewelry was to be made into a necklace. It consisted of coral, pearls and turquoise set in gold mountings of the old style. It was among the plunder stolen.

The robbers entered through a back window which was reached by climbing to the top of a low shed in the rear of the premises. They left the building through the rear door and the fall of snow covered their tracks. In dropping from the window the men fell upon a show case, breaking the glass. A match dropped by the men in entering burned a cloth covering, and that there was no fire as well as a robbery is almost a miracle. From the broken show case a Mayflower mandolin, worth $35, was taken. From another show case in the front of the music store, three Benson cornets, worth $75, were taken, together with a number of music galls and other trinkets which have not been checked up.

The greatest losses were suffered by the Jensens. A pair of pilfers was taken from the store in the rear of the store and used to pry open the front window, from which a case containing 24 valuable rings was taken. The rings were all first quality gold set with single stones of coral, turquoise, opal and coral onyxes. No loose stones of stick pins were disturbed as far as the count shows. From the repair bench six jobs were taken from the small envelopes containing them. Among the lot was a solid gold watch chain, brooches, rings and other smaller articles, valued more highly by the owner than the market price would amount to. So far as known no cash was secured.

Victims, employed in the store, was at work during the evening. While he was at the grindstone with his ears filled with cotton to deaden the noise, he heard a crash resembling breaking glass. He made a hurried investigation, but believed that the noise was made by a mouse knocking over a bottle. Such occurrences have happened frequently, and when he found nothing to convince him to the contrary, he returned to his work. Later Archie Chamberlain left the store about 10 o'clock after locking all the doors and windows.

It is now evident that the window was broken at that time and that the thieves, hearing the grind stone was being used, left to return later. Both the police department and the sheriff's office have been informed and furnished with descriptions of the rings taken.

PARENTS BOTH ARE DRUG FIENDS

Salt Lake, March 30.—After listening to the tragic story of the life of L. E. Uhrman and his wife, Mrs. Beatrice Uhrman, who sell newspapers on the streets, which precipitated them from a high social position to the abject state of moribund friends, Judge Gowan of the juvenile court declared their two children delinquents and delivered them into the custody of their grandmother, Mrs. Bertha C. Erickson, today.

Mrs. Erickson, who is the mother of Mr. Uhrman, came secretly from her home in South Dakota, and asked that her two granddaughters, Beatrice, 6 years old, and Marcella, 9 years old, be given to her care and keeping. She showed that she was financially fixed so that she could give them a cheerful home and educate them. When her request was granted today, she showered presents upon them and will leave tonight for South Dakota. For the last three of four years the children have lived in a miserable home of filth and gloom.

Uhrman was educated as a physician and a few years later met with an accident. He underwent an operation and, according to his own testimony he acquired the habit of using morphine to relieve his suffering. He was addicted to his wife but a short time before the accident happened.

After Uhrman became a fiend his practice fell off and he soon found himself without means. He left South Dakota and has dragged his wife and children from state to state, securing employment wherever he could. For the past three years he has been unable to perform manual labor on account of his falling health, caused by the excessive use of morphine. In the meantime, Mrs. Uhrman became addicted to the habit and admitted that she used morphine frequently. Since they lived in Salt Lake they have sold newspapers on the streets. Their two children have also sold papers after school hours to assist in making a bare living for the family.

JASPER R. RAND DIES IN HOSPITAL

Salt Lake, March 31.—Jasper Raymond Rand, vice-president of the Ingersoll-Rand company, prominent in western mining circles and a former lieutenant of the New York Volunteer Engineers corps during the Spanish-American war, died at 6:50 o'clock last evening at St. Mark's hospital. Though but 34 years of age and an athlete of unusual ability, he was unable to rally from an attack of pneumonia, despite the efforts of the best medical talent available.

In addition to his interests in the east, Mr. Rand was president of the Bendish Powder company, the Southport Mining company, Black Diamond Mining company, and during his illness was elected president of the West Quincy Mining company of Park City, Utah.

Deceased was a member of Montclair lodge, F. & A. M., and Alpha Delta Phi Greek letter society of Cornell university, of which institution he was a graduate. He was also a member of the New England society and a director of the Bank of Montclair, New Jersey.

WANTS HEAVY DAMAGES.

Plaintiff Injured When Forcibly Ejected From "Blind" Baggage on D. & R. G. Road.

Salt Lake, March 31.—Lino Trajillo took a ride on the "blind baggage" train running between Grand Junction and Ogden. He was discovered by the brakeman and forcibly removed, with, he says, unnecessary force and violence, near Agate, and is now suing the company for $10,000 damages for injuries he received.

This was on Feb. 7 last and he has since, he says, been under the care of a physician. The brakeman, he alleges, struck him on the head and in the face, knocking him off the platform of the car, over a bridge and into a ravine, breaking his right leg above the knee, fracturing his collar bone and injuring his body so that he has had to undergo surgical operations.

All this has rendered him unable to work, and, as he was previously capable of earning $2.50 a day, he figures he has lost considerable money that he might have earned.

Fish Pudding.
Boil two pounds of any kind of white fish, remove all the skin and bones, then chop it up finely, put it in a basin, add half a cup bread crumbs, one teaspoonful chopped parsley, a little salt, pepper and nutmeg. Add one teaspoonful of flour, one cupful of milk, one tablespoonful melted butter and two well-beaten eggs. Pour the mixture into a well-buttered mold, cover with buttered paper and steam gently one hour. Turn out carefully, decorate with thinly sliced lemon. Serve hot with oyster sauce.

Figaro Figs.
Steam pulled figs until soft, cool and make an incision in each lengthwise. Fill each with half a marshmallow and a half of English walnut meat. Press the cut edges together, roll in sugar or not as preferred.
